Christmas Greetings from the Langruth Views

This holiday season will be unlike any other, to cap off a year unlike any other. Throughout this season, and as we move into a new year, we wish you moments of peace amid the difficulties, connections with family and friends even if they can't be in person, the warmth of memories from holidays past, and wonderful glimpses of the joy that still lives under the surface. May you and your family cherish your time together this holiday season. Wishing you a blessed Christmas and Happy New Year!

Be Merry this Pandemic Christmas

This year's holiday season may feel strange due to the Coronavirus but it can be an once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to break tradition and reinvent the holiday. It is easy to focus on what we can't do but if we stay positive about all the things we can do, Christmas will still be merry. Carry on with the family traditions that you can and enjoy your time together.

The pandemic is adding stress to our daily lives. We are constantly navigating the risks of infection and having to adjust events and circumstances beyond our control. In the bleak midwinter of the pandemic, let's reach out to our friends and neighbors where we can. Be generous with your time and kindness. Donate to a charity. Build our communities. Support local businesses. Help those in need. Most importantly, stay positive and put your energy into things that bring you joy.

Langruth Christmas Tree Lights Up the Community

Even though Langruth's Annual Tree Lighting and Caroling was cancelled due to public health restrictions, the Christmas Tree in Einarson Park was lit to kick off the Christmas season. During a time of so much uncertainty it brings some cheer to the community. We look forward to caroling, fireworks and community fellowship in 2021. Stay safe and enjoy your Christmas.

Sending Christmas Cheer With A Song

Get ready for some holiday fun with Christmas music. Please check out the Langruth Happenings Facebook Page on December 16th for Christmas music by Theresa Thordarson, John Himes and Heather Jean Jordan (nee Thordarson). Thank-you for sharing your gifts of music with the community.

Kinosota Trail Game & Fish Hold Virtual Awards Night

The COVID-19 pandemic and current public health restrictions have forced many organizations to be creative in how they hold their events and functions. Creative thinking and perseverance allowed the Kinosota Trail Game & Fish Association to hold the Annual Awards Night on December 5th in a virtual format. Although the number of entries were down there were entries in almost all the categories. Pictures of the entries can be seen on the Kinosota Trail Game and Fish Facebook Page. Congratulations to the committee on carrying on this tradition.

President, Kory Jonasson, reported on the club's activities. With help from the Municipality of WestLake-Gladstone, three loads of stone were added to the boat launch. It was nice to see the boat launch being used so much this summer.

Kinosota Trail Game & Fish Memberships are available. Contact a member of the executive to purchase a membership. The executive will be contacting past members for renewals.

Preparations for the 2021 Season at the Langruth Skating Rink

Undoubtedly there is much uncertainty for the 2021 Season at the Langruth Skating Rink due to the current Code Red Public Health Restrictions. In the event that the Skating Rink can open, volunteers will be needed for making ice, maintaining ice, developing COVID plans, working in the canteen and running programs. The 2021 season will look like no other but it has the potential to be a great opportunity to work together to possibly offer public skating, skating lessons, rec. hockey, curling and other programs in our community at a time when we are encouraged to stay close to home.

Any help that you can offer is appreciated. With some creative thinking and collaboration there is the potential to have a fun season and provide a great asset to the community.

Please feel free to call Tom Teichroeb or Bobbie Czeranko if you are able to volunteer or help in any way. Thank-you for contributing to the community.

Double-Crested Cormorant

The most widespread cormorant in North America appears blackish overall from a distance, but may appear to have a green sheen in certain lighting. During breeding season it shows two small tufts of feathers, black in eastern birds but larger and mostly white in western birds. Immature birds are brown with a white face, fore neck and breast.

This cormorant swims low in the water with its bill tilted slightly upward. In flight it has a distinct crook in its neck.

Cormorants are excellent divers and use their feet for propulsion. They dive for fish, crustaceans and amphibians from the surface. They are able to stay at 1.5 – 7.5 meters below the surface for 20 – 70 seconds.

When nesting in trees, the nest is made from sticks and debris and is lined with leafy twigs and grass. They also nest on rocks near the water. These nests are made of seaweed and trash gathered at the water's edge. The nests are built by the female.

Incubation is 28-30 days by both sexes. The young may leave the nest at 21 – 28 days but may return to be fed by both sexes. Their first flight is at 35 – 42 days. They are independent at 63 – 70 days. There is one brood per year.

The population of the Double-Crested Cormorant fluctuates because of persecution at nesting colonies even though the range has expanded, particularly in the interior, in the last two decades of the 20th century. They are often killed by fishermen who believe they compete with them.

COVID-19 NOVEL CORONAVIRUS

Reprinted From:

*World Health Organization (<https://www.who.int/>),
Province of Manitoba (<https://www.gov.mb.ca>)*

The COVID-19 pandemic is still a global crisis and decisions made by leaders and citizens in the coming days will determine both the course of the virus in the short term and when the pandemic will ultimately end. The World Health Organization (WHO) has three messages to share.

First, COVID-19 can be beat with science, solutions and solidarity. More than 66 million cases have been reported worldwide and more than 1.5 million people have lost their lives. Although this global crisis is not over, many countries and cities have successfully prevented or controlled transmission with a comprehensive, evidence based approach.

Second, we must not backslide on our critical health goals. The COVID-19 pandemic is a sobering reminder that health is the foundation of social, economic and political stability.

Third, we must prepare for the next pandemic now. We've seen this past year that countries with robust health emergency preparedness infrastructure have been able to act quickly to contain and control the spread of viruses.

Progress on COVID-19 vaccines gives us all a lift and we can now start to see the light at the end of the tunnel. WHO, however, is concerned that there is a growing perception that the pandemic is over while many places are still witnessing very high transmission rates. This is putting an enormous pressure on hospitals, intensive care units and health workers.

Some countries have managed to reduce transmission rates by putting very strict measures in place. Even as vaccines are rolled out, people need to adhere to public health measures so that everyone is protected. Please be careful, think of health workers and act for the greater good because it will save lives and livelihoods.

On November 12th the province of Manitoba moved into the Critical level (red) on the #RestartMB Pandemic Response System to protect Manitoba's citizens. Dr. Brent Roussin, Manitoba's chief provincial public health officer, urges Manitobans to only leave their homes for essential purposes. When leaving the house be sure to physically distance, wear a mask in indoor public places and avoid crowded spaces. Do not leave home if you are sick, or when any member of your family is sick. Do not socialize with anyone from outside your household. Anyone arriving in Manitoba is required to self-isolate for 14 days. Businesses are required to limit the capacity to 25% of the usual capacity. All places of worship are required to close.

On November 21st all in-store sales of non-essential items were banned across Manitoba. Retail businesses were required to remove all non-essential items or limit public access to non-essential items. A listing of the items that are deemed essential can be found online on the Manitoba Government Pandemic Response System Web Page. This public health order is to be in effect until December 11th at which time the order will be reassessed.

Manitoba Premier, Brian Pallister, continues to urge Manitobans to follow health guidelines and change their holiday celebrations to prevent the spread of COVID-19. Pallister acknowledged that this was a difficult thing to ask of Manitobans but hoped he would be respected in the coming years for 'having the guts' to do the right thing. There will be much to celebrate next year but for the time being the right thing to do is protect each other and stay safe by social distancing, wearing masks, and socializing with people in their own households.

News from Here, There and Anywhere

Reporter Teri Soos

It's December. We are still dealing with the COVID-19 pandemic and having to change the way we do things. I heard on the radio that the numbers of cases aren't rising as fast as expected but are still rising. I guess we have to obey the rules a while longer. We are now in 'Code Red'. The restrictions of Code Red are supposed to be in place until the 11th of December. We will see if we can go back to Code Orange or Yellow after that. They are saying on radio and television that Christmas will need to be kept very small this year. Have your Christmas dinner with your immediate family only. You can have a big celebration later on when this has all passed. Right now we can only buy essential things in the stores so that will make Christmas shopping more difficult this year. I don't do a lot of shopping so I don't know how people are getting ready for Christmas. From the looks of things on television the parking lots are still full so people must be still going out for a few things. Maybe everyone will be getting chocolates and gift cards this year. Hopefully everyone manages to get what they need for a nice Christmas.

There still seem to be people who are not wearing masks. Please use your masks. It is only for a short time and wearing a mask is certainly easier than suffering with the virus. It wouldn't be nice to see someone infected with the virus struggling for air. Keep those masks on so we can get through this. We are still hearing of how people who have contracted the virus are suffering in hospitals. Even those in the hospital that don't have the virus are having a difficult time because they have to be isolated. My sister is in the Grace Hospital in Winnipeg and is getting very frustrated because she is all by herself and only sees the nurses. It is very lonesome in the hospitals.

Hopefully the COVID-19 vaccination that we hear talk of is coming soon so we can put this all behind us. The vaccination should do what the polio vaccine did for the polio epidemic in the 1950s. It stopped it in its track and now we are polio free. I'm sure many will remember that time. This pandemic is worse because it is affecting the whole world. Let's hope that we can get control over it as we did with polio.

I haven't heard of anyone getting COVID here lately. We have had a couple of scares where people have had a mild flu. We certainly hope that no one gets terribly ill with the COVID flu or any other flu. Let's keep our communities safe by keeping our masks on and doing our part.

I'm sure you've seen what happened at Steinbach at a church where they were continuing to gather and were fined a great deal. I don't know who can afford that kind of money just to have their weekly service. We just need to stay home and worship and pray there. There are also lots of services on television and the internet.

As expected, there have been number of cancelations. Many have been counting on and looking forward to their Christmas gatherings. Unfortunately there isn't much that can go on as usual. The last Friday in November in Langruth is usually the Annual Tree Lighting and Caroling. Due to the Code Red restrictions nothing could be held this year. The tree was put up but there was no singing or fireworks. The tree is lit up in the evenings so you can still drive by and enjoy the lights. Many will miss going out to Christmas concerts but nothing like that can be held. The Kinosota Game and Fish Association Annual Banquet that would have been on December 5th was cancelled as well. Instead a Virtual Awards Night was held where people could enter pictures of their game or fish for prizes. There wasn't the usual Rainbow Auction or other draws but we hope that the hunters still enjoyed putting their entries in. We hope that next year everything can go back to normal.

I understand that there were few people out deer hunting this fall. They maybe didn't get out as much as usual because of the virus or the fact there is no snow which makes tracking harder. I suppose the deer are most thankful! Those that like the deer meat might find themselves short this year. We will try again next year.

The churches won't be having any of their usual Christmas gatherings and programs either. The Seniors have also called off their Christmas Dinner and Party. It is best that we don't hold any of these types of events to help slow down the

News From Here, There .. con't

COVID-19 virus. It only takes one infected person in a crowd to affect a great deal of people. We hope that things will be back to normal for next year. For this year we can just wish everyone reading this newspaper all the very best for the coming year and for many years to come.

I hear that there are a few people that are sick with the flu right now (not COVID thankfully). To anyone that is not feeling well or in the hospital we wish you a speedy recovery and hopefully you will be better soon and will be able to enjoy the rest of the winter. I've heard that Mildred Armstrong is in the hospital here in Gladstone right now. We wish her well.

Here at Centennial Apartments we seem to have 'treats' each day. It is very nice. In the mornings we make our own breakfast and coffee because we can't all meet in the coffee room right now. We can only have 5 people in the coffee room at one time so not many are going. The staff has been very nice in bringing treats around. We've had doughnuts, cupcakes and tarts. Every morning there seems to be something different to have with our cup of coffee. Thank-you to the staff here for their kindness, help and hard-work. There are things that we just can't do anymore and they are always happy to help us out.

We have also been treated to Christmas lights here at Centennial. Our caretaker has donated a number of Christmas lights that have been put up out front. Thank-you for your generous donation and to everyone that helped put them up as they certainly brighten our winter.

There are a number of people putting up lights at their houses. Be careful on your ladders! We look forward to seeing all the Christmas displays. I heard that the Municipality is having a Christmas Light Tour. A map will be available on December 23rd.

A little bird told me that a friend and neighbor is having a 98th birthday in December. How many of you remember Alice (Holmes) Lasson? She lived in Langruth for many years. I think she belonged to almost all the clubs and organizations in Langruth. When she moved to Portage it was a great loss for the community. She then moved to Winnipeg where she is enjoying life near her family. We wish Alice a very happy birthday and hope that she has many more and will be able to celebrate them in a big way. I also heard that Blanche McLeod had a birthday. She is now living in Lions Manor. I understand that her children were able to come to see her for her birthday. We hope she enjoyed her day and will have many more birthdays to celebrate.

I heard that Marsha Soos' brother Jim recently died of cancer in Calgary. His wife Bev died of cancer in 2015. A funeral will be held for them both later on when it is safe to have a gathering. To their children, Colin and Karmelle, and to Marsha and her family and friends, we send our deepest sympathy. To anyone that has lost family or friends we send our deepest sympathy. Because we can't have traditional funerals I often don't hear about some of our community members passing. Please let me know if someone from the community has passed away so we can acknowledge them in our newspaper.

We would like to send our special Christmas greetings to everyone. We hope that you have a nice Christmas season even though it will be very different. We hope that the coming year treats you well. Stay safe and follow public health orders so we can get through this pandemic and back to normal.

We wish you a very Merry Christmas and very Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Until we talk next year,

Teri Soos.
